

Changes are coming that may affect your street parking.

Dear Resident,

The City of Canterbury Bankstown is working to provide you with the most efficient and streamlined waste service. In order to do so, your waste and recycling service will undergo a few changes over the coming weeks, which may impact on parking in your street.

These changes are the final stage of Council's realignment of waste services between the former Canterbury and Bankstown local government areas. Council will continue its role in bringing the future of smart collections, recycling and reusing, resource recovery and waste minimisation to all generations across the City.

One of the changes that may affect you is changes to parking restrictions in your street.

Bin days and parking restrictions

Starting from Monday 1 March, new collection days will be based on Council wards. View the below list or map to find out if your bin day is changing. Remember some suburbs are split by a main road. These areas may have two different collection days.

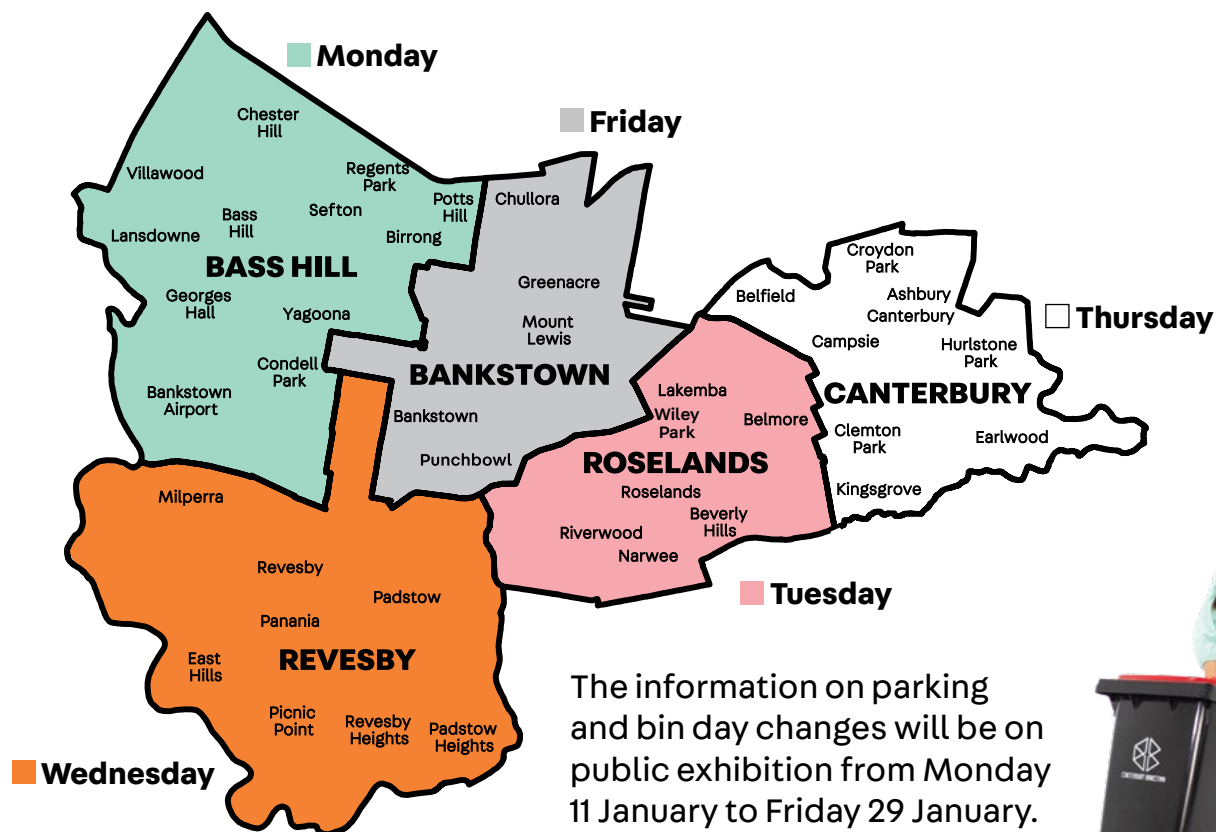

Parking restrictions will also change in line with these new waste collection days.

Council will need to change the parking signs in your street to ensure the waste truck can collect your bins on the new collection day. Signs will be updated on the weekend of 26-28 February. Talk to your neighbours about the changes to make sure our trucks can access your bins on bin day.

Welcome to the wasteless generation.
